

RESCUE

For the first time the only thing you are likely to break is everything because it is a dangerous venture. Danger invites rescue – I call it loving.

We've got a good thing going – I call it rescue.

Nicest thing ever to come between steel cobwebs, we hope so. A few others should get around to it, I can't understand it. There is plenty of room clean windows, we start our best engines, a-rumm . . . everything is relevant. I call it loving.

"...everything is relevant. I call it loving." What more is there to say!

- Guy Pettit